

feels fine. Comes visitors leaving time and the family goes home, leaving Kimon there and saying, Still, he is great.

As they step into the home, the phone rings. It is the hospital to say he has died from a stroke.

Autopsy reveals no heart disease, no artery clogging. He has had a massive stroke caused by very high blood pressure. He had gone to a doctor some time before about his blood pressure and had been told it was dangerously high and he should be under medication for it at once. His reply was that he would deal with it by NATURAL MEANS. To the old adage that an attorney who represents himself has a fool for a client, should be added He who treats himself etc etc

Komon, who began his business career in the fur trade, became a chiropractor and had two sons in the same trade. He was 67 when he died. I saw him in October at the Old Timers Bash and he looked far from with nary a complaint and his usual cheerful self.

He won the Junior Mr America Award and took part in 7 Mr America contests in which he almost always won Best Legs. Sic transit gloria mundi.

Whether or not STRENGTH ATHLETE will continue to be published under a new flag I don't know, but my satisfaction is seeing a scum Bag like Williams out of it. He had no interest in the Welfare of the Game, only for what he could make out of it.

Re that 25 inch forearm on a gorilla. It would be interesting to know whether Everson stepped into to take the tape, and whether or not the ape was chloroformed beforehand. But I am not surprised at his statement. He has made others of this ridiculous type, proving that you can have all sorts of letters after your name and have gone to Christ knows how many Universities and you STILL KNOW HOW TO ACT STUPID.

He once stated in an article that Henry Stenborn used to upend the barbell rock it across his shoulders because there were no squat stands found in his day. One would also think that catchers, loaders and training partners had not been invented until YOU KNOW WHO TW had come along.
