

on diuretics at all. He suffered what is known as insulin shock.

One of the manifestations of diabetes is a constant need to urinate or a desire to drink, drink after drink.

Diabetes can produce two kinds of adverse reaction. One is INSULIN COMA and the other insulin shock. Those who have to take insulin shots as a result of diabetes melitus or onset diabetes, the type most found in ELDERLY people, will not suffer these reactions UNLESS they fail to take their shots.

Clay Von Bulow, the New England biggie, went on trial for giving his wife shots of insulin, and shooting her into an irreversible coma. She is still in it and wont come out. What these bloody idiots who shoot up with insulin fail to realize is that it can KILL you and faster than a shot of strons, which does the job of resing you from the world over a period of years. A shot of insulin CAN do it pronto, if not faster.

Though I have said that this is the result of the over commercialization of lur sport, this phase of it is but symptomatic of the times we live in and the culture that has become ours. (symptomatic)

Take for example the political bullshit Georgeie Bush is heaping on the public re tburning of the flag and the Supreme Court decisions regarding it. Truer, flag burning is a stupid and boorish thing to do, but at the same time Bush is railing about flag burning, he is allowing the Supreme court to cut away at the civil liberties the flag represents.

Ditto with his hollering about a Kinder, Gentler America during his election campaign, that allowing the Supreme Court to OK the death pealty for juveniles and mentally retarded.

If they did so much hollering and fuss raising about the number of unemploy and homes as they did about some illadvised bloody idiot burning the Flag, our social probems and distress would be short lived.

I find parallels in the actions of the Chinese Government. They tell the world the demos in Tianamen Square didnt take pace, there were no allgery or otherwise, rioters killed and just to prove there were no riots, have condemed AND executed 28 of them for NOT RIOTING and NOT BEING Killed.

and nice logical trick if you can get away with it.

I am glad I will be leaving that fucked up world in the not too distant future. All I ask is, fast, no fuss, no muss but just let me go easily and fast.

You have a faint suspiciln that I did much for Wunderid. That is the understatement of all time. Like Noah looking out of the ark and saying to one of his sons, " Shit shem, looks like its gonna rain. "

OTR. If it hadnt been for me, Joe would never have got into the food suppleme business when he did. It was I who persuaded him, now, much to my regret. It has, like everything else in our game, become a Golem, a Frankenstine Monste and it is now IMPOSSIBLE to read any mag without getting the impression that bangs are redundant, All you have to do to get big and strong and muscular is pop a pill. Sad, but, to me, true.

The bit about Christian surprises but does not flumox me. It is just what has expeted would happen all along. Why stop at pill popping or shooting up
